

Recently I ran into a dynamic duo who have turned their passion of excellence into a trendy, sophisticated, upscale 'state-of-the-art' hospitality business. The brains behind Synergy International are SABINA GALDILOLO and ENRICO COSTA. Both are veteran hospitality gurus who have worked their dreams through the maze of luxury hotels that create the core of Italy's finest 'boutique' hotels.

Together, they have created, possibly, the best network of intimate villas, hotels and resorts that exist in the world. Yes, that is a big statement!

The truth is that when Sabina and Enrico joined forces, their passion ignited a joint effort to seek out only the most luxurious boutique resorts in Italy as their clients.

Their clients, all top-notch resorts, offer luxury to their guests.

Sabina and Enrico offer personalized sales and marketing solutions for hotels, spas, villas, resorts and golf destinations. They are considered the Best in the Industry.

Their purpose is to deliver tailor made, adaptable strategies for short-term responses and long-term results, which include sales support, strategic planning, leadership and innovative solutions to achieve concrete objectives for their customers satisfaction.

Their knowledge of Italy and its peculiarities has given them 'know how' in the hospitality business to create competence in achieving quality services in the sales and marketing arena.

As a well-traveled journalist who has had the opportunity to stay in some of the finest hotels and resorts in the world and a devotee of the SINA hotel group, where both Sabina and Enrico once worked, I believe their collection of hotels, villas and resorts rival the 'Best of the Best in Italy'.
